Commander: GEN John W. Hendrix
Headquarters: Fort McPherson, Ga.
Established: Oct. 1, 1993

Mission: FORSCOM contains the bulk of the Army's combat forces. As a major Army command, FORSCOM trains, mobilizes, deploys and sustains forces from the active and reserve components that are capable of operating in joint and combined environments to meet worldwide operational commitments. In addition to its wartime mission, FORSCOM assists in civil defense, protects the nation from terrorism, and helps civil authorities respond to national disasters and emergencies. FORSCOM also supports counterdrug operations through Joint Task Force-6. As the Army component of U.S. Atlantic Command, FORSCOM performs all ground headquarters functions in the Atlantic area of responsibility. FORSCOM has soldiers deployed in more than 30 countries.
